

Instructions for reviewing old houses on Google Maps

Street View on Google Maps has added a time option so we can revisit our old home or any place that you want to find old memories.

Google Maps Street View has added a time option so we can revisit our old home or any place that you want to find old memories. You just need to enter the point you want to see in the Google Maps search bar and view in street view and the results will show the current location image, with the option to go back to previous years. Below are instructions for revisiting your old home on Google Maps.

How to review old house on Google Maps phone

Step 1:

On the interface of the Google Maps application, click on the diamond icon in the right corner of the interface, then leave it as Default or select Satellite to switch to detailed map display mode and then click Street View .
