

Instructions for unlocking and unlocking the Oppo screen when forgetting the password

Is there any way to unlock Oppo screen lock when you forget the password to log in, it is really bad if you fall into this situation but you are okay.

Forgetting your phone password is really a disaster but companies like Oppo know how to take care of their customers and completely allow to unlock the Oppo screen when forgetting the password if you know how. Of course there are many ways to do it and you will find it easier with the following tutorial.

Instructions to unlock Oppo screen lock when forgetting password

In this article, Taimienphi.vn will guide you with 3 ways to unlock the Oppo screen when you forget your password and you can follow 1 of these 3 ways or try all 3 if you cannot find an immediate solution. .

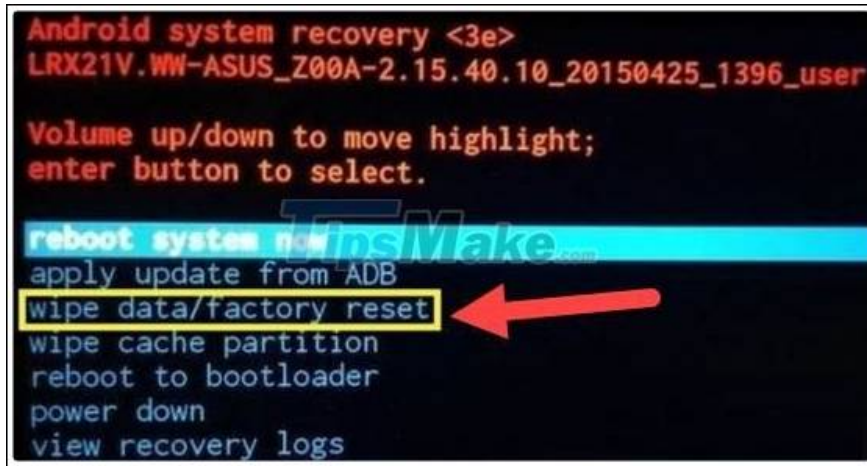

1. Perform Wipe data / reset factore on Oppo

Note: To crack the Oppo screen lock when forgetting the password in this way will apply to the screen screen password, the mechanism of this method is to conduct deep intervention on the software inside the machine and run the chapter Process to remove the old password in use. This method is simple and fast, but the weak point is that it will erase all of the phone's data. So you need to consider carefully when using it, moreover, this only applies to machines that use MTK chips on Oppo phones.

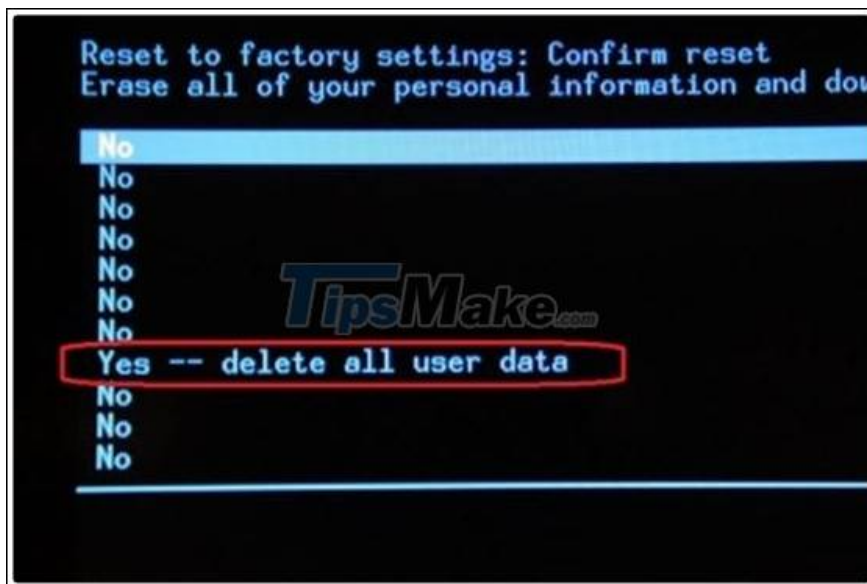

Step 1: First we have to turn off the device> note to turn it off completely then press and hold Volume Up + Power (power button) until Recovery Mode appears.

Step 2: Recovery mode appears, you use the Volume up / down button to move up and down and look for wipe data / factory reset, use the Power button to agree.

Step 3: Select Yes and delete all user data to erase the data, then go to Reset to restart the device.

2. Perform Flash file unlock through Custom Recovery

To unlock Oppo screen when forgetting password by Flash file unlocked via Custom Recovery first thing you need to make sure you also need a little knowledge about Oppo phone as well as other phones. Each type of Oppo will have its own way of doing and if you are unsure of your knowledge, you should not do it this way. What to do is to Google to find the file Unlock for Oppo then copy this file to the memory card. Next, Flash like Uprom for the machine to reboot, enter any code, the machine will open.

3. Perform the deletion of the device lock setting file in the phone

To perform Oppo screen lock when forgetting password by deleting the device lock setting file in the phone, your Oppo must have been successfully Rooted before and when opening Root Explorer it is up and looking in the path. Data / system and set R / O rights to search and execute delete file named "password.key" for alphanumeric passwords. In case, password is in grid shape, we need to find and delete the file named "Gesture. Key". After restarting, the computer still appears with the password, at this time we can also enter any characters into it.

You finished reading the article "Instructions for unlocking and unlocking the Oppo screen when forgetting the password" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.