Make a Facetime call

To make a Facetime call for someone, you need to know the phone number or account that the person logged into the Facetime application. There are several ways to make a Facetime call:

1. At Facetime application, enter the phone number or email of the person you need to call, then click on the corresponding icon to call Facetime video or Facetime audio.
2. If you have saved the phone number or email of the person you want to call, you can find their name and click on the corresponding icon to call Facetime video or Facetime audio.

During the process of making a call, you can change the Facetime audio call to Facetime video or vice versa by clicking the corresponding icon.

Use call waiting function when making audio Facetime call

If your device uses iOS 8 or higher, you can use the call waiting function. When you are making a Facetime call and someone else calls (regardless of whether you call normally or call Facetime), you can choose one of three ways:

1. End the current call and accept the new call.
2. Accept the new call and place the current call in standby mode.
3. Reject the new call.

Good luck!
