For most videos on Youtube, we will just have to watch the picture and listen to the audio to be able to understand the content of the video. However there are some content that we just need to listen to sound is enough, such as lectures, some music videos, songs collection . So it would be great if we have It is possible to enjoy such content even when the phone screen is off. This article will guide you to listen to music on YouTube when locking the phone screen, turn off the phone screen, quite simple, you follow.

For Android devices: Use Firefox browser

When most Android users use Chrome as their main browser, Firefox is the solution to help you listen to music on Youtube at the lock screen.

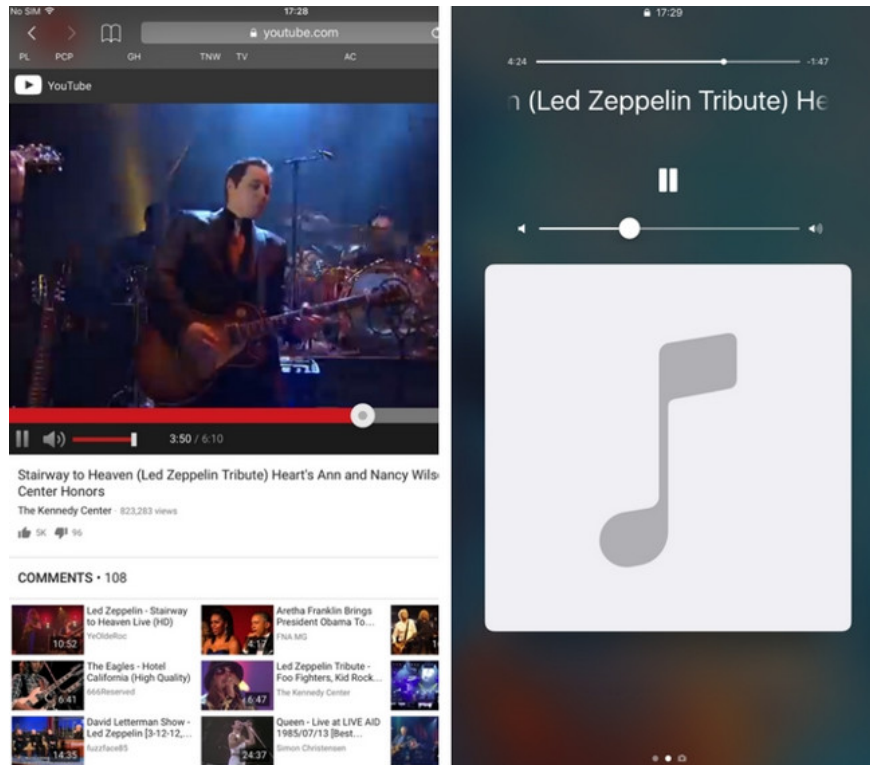

Open the Firefox browser application and go to Youtube. Then find the video you want to hear. When the video is playing, turn off the screen of your device so that you can still hear the sound of the video coming out even though your screen is off.

For iOS devices: Use Safari browser

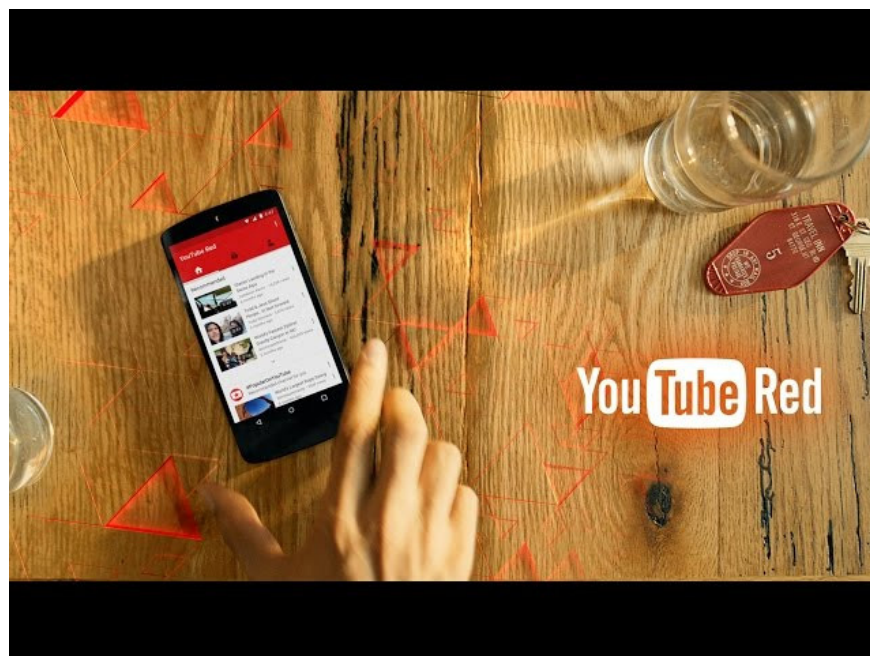

Although the Firefox browser application on iOS cannot do the same thing as on Android, but Safari can.

Open Safari and go to Youtube. Please refuse if Safari suggests you use the YouTube application. Then find the video you want to hear and turn it on. When the video is playing, turn off your device screen. The lock screen will now display the name of the video you are playing, press Play . So you can listen to the video on Youtube already.

Use Youtube Red

You can spend 10 $ a month to use YouTube Red when this is a paid version of Youtube. Youtube Red allows users to watch videos without advertising, support audio playback from YouTube videos on the screen and download videos to watch later. In addition, you can watch some other TV shows that can only be found on Youtube Red and many other features that the free version of YouTube does not have.

Can a third application be used to do this?

Not now. That's because Google has intended to remove all third applications that support this feature. A typical example is the FlyTube Android app, which allows users to not only hear music but also video images on the lock screen and you can open other applications while the youtube video is still running. in a corner of the screen. However, soon after, Google removed this application from its Play Store.

Similar to the FlyTube application on Android, iOS also has an application called Songstream that possesses similar features. But currently that feature is no longer available on this application.
