

Instructions on how to remove Internet Explorer on Windows 10

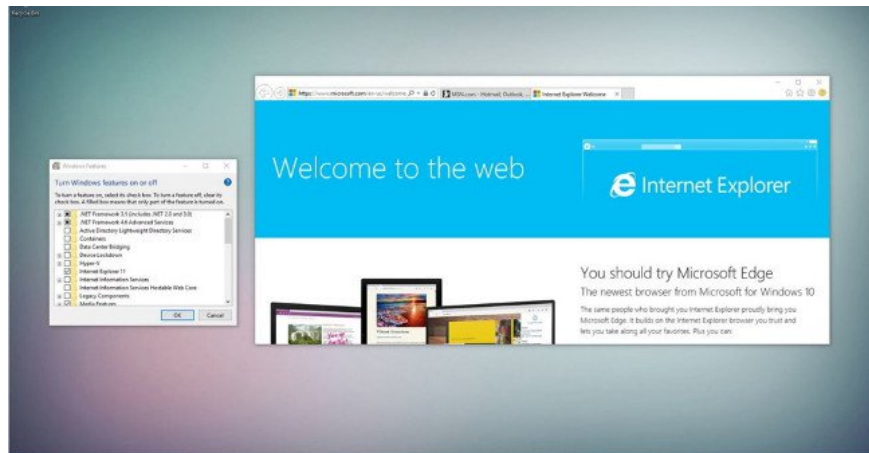

The following article will show you how to remove Internet Explorer from the system to return the disk space.

Internet Explorer is still preinstalled with Edge on Windows 10 and so are older Windows versions. Frankly speaking, after using Internet Explorer to download Chrome, Coc Coc or some favorite browser to your computer, we never open IE again. But Microsoft does not understand that, they do not allow users to remove IE completely. This affects the storage space of the computer.

Since it is the default software on Windows operating system, removing Internet Explorer will not be the same as uninstalling regular software. The following article will show you how to remove Internet Explorer from the system to return the capacity to the hard drive.

Delete the most "stubborn" files on Windows

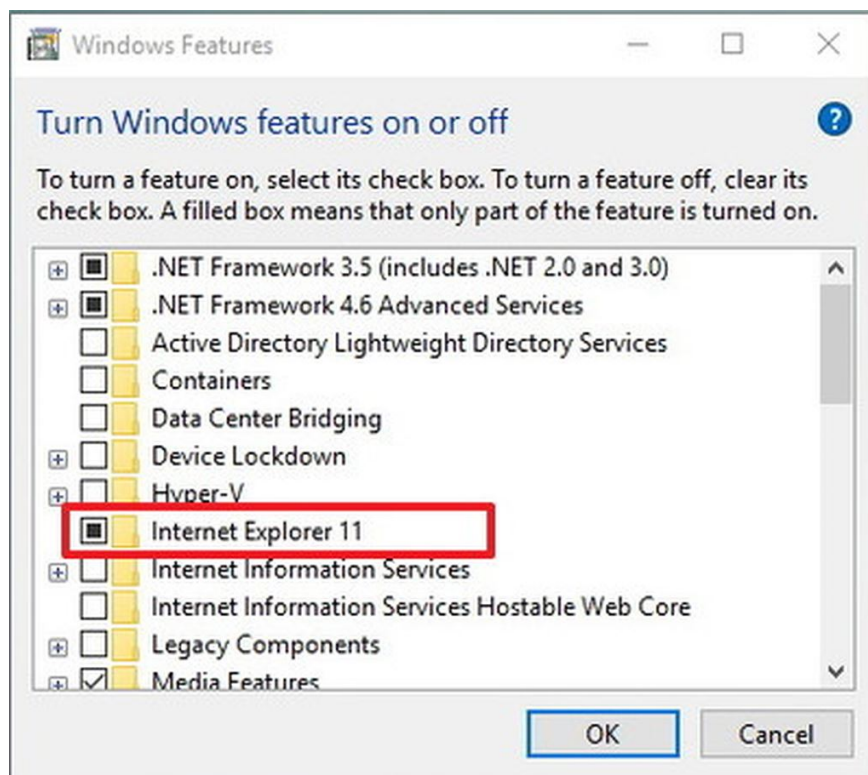

Step 1:

First, open Control Panel by right-clicking on the Start / Windows icon -> then choose Programs and Feature -> click Turn Windows features on or off .

Step 2:

The Windows Feature window appears. Here you find and check the box corresponding to the Internet Explorer 11 -> line and then click the OK button.

Step 3:

Immediately, a notification about disabling Internet Explorer 11 may affect Windows features and other applications will appear. You just need to press the YES button to continue. After the notification window closes, click the OK button to finish.

Step 4:

Finally, the system will require restarting the computer to apply the changes. Click the Restart now button if you want the system to start immediately or click Don't restart to start the system at another time.

After completing the steps, Internet Explorer 11 will not be found in Windows 10 computers, the Open with Internet Explorer options available in the Microsoft Edge menu will not work.

Users can restore Internet Explorer 11 on Windows 10 at any time by repeating step 2.
