

Instructions on how to share notes on iPhone

To be able to transfer notes on iPhone to another device, we can use the sharing feature available on the device, such as sending via Email, Message, ...

In addition to direct work on paper like the traditional way, we can create notes right on the smartphone device or use the notes tool on the computer like Sticky Notes. With iPhone and iPad devices, users can immediately use the Notes application on the device. However, what if you want to transfer the notes created on your iOS device to others? The implementation is very simple and we will show you how to share notes on iPhone in the article below.

Step 1:

First of all, we will click the Notes application on the device. In the Notes view, you can click the pen icon in the right corner to create a new note, or click the note created in the list.
