Popular Highlights are popular paragraphs marked by more than 10 people on Kindle books. It takes the form of underlined text. In theory, this is a useful feature, but in fact it causes quite a lot of distractions for the reader.

Popular Highlights appears pretty much on Kindle. You will encounter underlined text and note 386 Highlighters (385 people marked). This feature has some limitations:

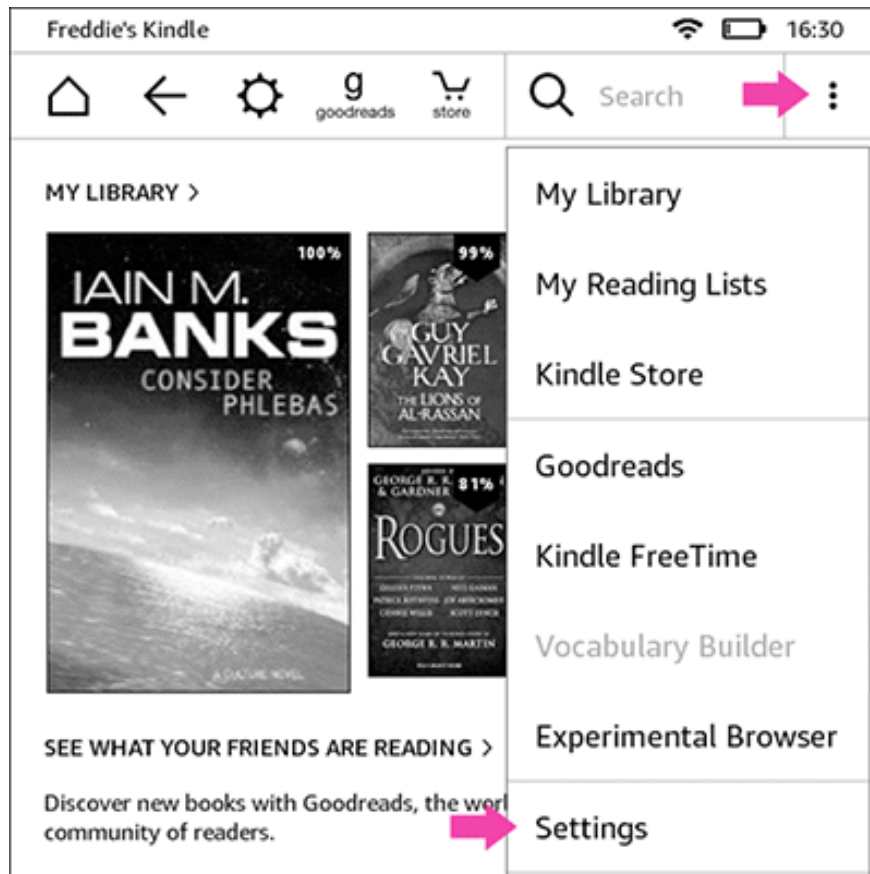

1. Popular Highlights disconnect your reading circuit. With favorite books you will not want to see the sentences and paragraphs marked by many people.
2. Popular Highlights orient how to read and prevent you from thinking independently. You will enjoy reading and marking important passages in your own way. The highlight text for you is probably not important to others or vice versa. In addition, if this is a view from a teacher who has asked the whole class to highlight a paragraph, it will make that paragraph a highlight of the whole book around the world. This is quite an aspect.
3. When a paragraph is Popular Highlight, it will get more and more attention, so they will skip the other paragraphs.
