

Intel Compute Stick CS125: The Windows 10 computer is just as small as a USB drive

Intel Compute Stick CS125 is a desktop computer that is more portable than any laptop on the planet because it is about the size of a USB drive.

Intel Compute Stick CS125 is a desktop computer that is more portable than any laptop on the planet because it is about the size of a USB drive.

Intel Compute Stick CS125 is equipped with Intel Atom x5 and Windows 10 processors, so when connecting to any monitor or TV with HDMI it will become a desktop computer.

Picture 1 of Intel Compute Stick CS125: The Windows 10 computer is just as small as a USB drive

Despite its small size, the Intel Compute Stick CS125 is still the perfect device for web browsing, streaming, working and much more thanks to its Intel HD graphics, 2GB of RAM, two USB and Wi-ports. Fi AC.

Other specifications of this tiny computer include:

1. Intel Atom processor x5-Z8300 quad core.
2. Windows 10 (32 bit).
3. Intel HD graphics.
4. Built-in 802.11ac (Intel Dual Band Wireless-AC 7265).
5. One USB 3.0 port and one USB 2.0 port.

6. Bluetooth 4.0.

See more:

1. Intel unveiled a foldable dual-screen PC
2. List of the world's smallest technology items
3. The smart bracelet controls the computer with your finger like a science fiction movie

You finished reading the article "Intel Compute Stick CS125: The Windows 10 computer is just as small as a USB drive" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.