Endless Space is an interesting turn-based strategy game, the 'hybrid' of the 4X genre and explores the universe in the context of 3000 AD. In the game, each player (maximum of 8) will play the leader of one of the 9 galactic empires in the universe. Players will have to create their own unique civilization through delicate trade and diplomacy.

During the exploration of the universe, players will have to search for the Endless race's antiquities and resources, the first to settle and dominate the universe in hundreds of star systems and thousands of different planets.

In the game, players will be equipped with modern spaceships with a variety of laser and plasma artillery to participate in extremely dramatic and "star wars".

Endless Space is priced up to 19.99USD. But now, Games2gether, the official release portal of Endless Space, is giving away this fascinating game for those who own an account on the site. So, if you have never tried the Endless Space game, this is an opportunity for you to experience this super cool strategy game for free.
