

iOS 17.5 developer beta 2 released

Recently, Apple released the second beta of iOS 17.5 and iPadOS 17.5 updates.

The second Beta of iOS 17.5 and iPadOS 17.5 was released 2 weeks after the first beta.

Although most of the features Apple promised in iOS 17 have already been released, iOS 17.5 also adds changes to the application ecosystem in the EU. From there, developers can make apps available for download on iPhones directly from their websites as well as through app marketplaces.

Registered developers can now opt-in to the beta by:

Sign in with your Apple ID at dev.apple.com (if you've never signed in before) - Create a new backup for your device - Launch the Settings app (device must be running at least iOS 16.4) - Install General Settings - Software Update - Beta Update - Select iOS 17.5 Developer Beta.

You finished reading the article "iOS 17.5 developer beta 2 released" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.