After being punished by the FTC, Apple added iOS 7.1 warning window about 15-minute purchase time without entering the password on devices running this operating system.

Currently, when iOS 7.1 users make a purchase in the app, after entering the password, a window will appear, prompting them to continue buying in 15 minutes without re-entering the password. password

To reinstall this feature, users can select the Settings button and change the setting in Restrictions to request to disable in-app purchases or enter a password each time.

In 2011, Apple was sued by a parent because the 15-minute purchase time did not need to enter the password in iOS that caused their children to abuse.

The US Trade Commission (FTC) has joined in and asked Apple to compensate parents for their children shopping in the game for a total of $ 32.5 million.

Although since iOS 4.3, Apple has included a feature to help parents monitor their device usage, but then this problem still occurs.
