Apple is about to launch a new iPhone but, don't buy! Because the best iPhone is already on the market, it is the iPhone 6S.

There are many reasons not to buy this new iPhone even before it launches. When you leave the specs trying to convince you to buy the things you already have, whether the processor or the screen, 6S is still the best phone. Let's take a look at the iPhone iPhone of the iPhone, the 6S phone. What makes the amazing iPhone 6S?

1. Fast.
2. Light.
3. Perfect size, not too small, not too big.
4. Apple design climax, where every improvement is not only great but also meaningful, both in physical form and function.
5. There are pictures Live Photos.
6. Great camera.

How has iPhone "evolved", from 2007 to 2017?

That's not to mention important things. iPhone 6S is a phone that brings everything you need, or things you might want, no more and no less.

Headphone jack: You might ask why do you need a headphone jack when everyone uses Bluetooth headphones now? Bluetooth headsets may be convenient but they may be short-circuited, they will sometimes run out of battery. Ordinary headphones are not like that. Headphones are often everywhere, they are easier to use, no complicated settings are required, most Bluetooth devices require.

Do not ask for Dongle security lock. Apple arbitrarily added new accessories on the phone to help them make money, even if we protested to scream. Because Apple knows we are sheep and will buy their phones despite the lack of features that we consider important.

A real button. Do you know what makes us happy and most assured? Those are the buttons. They exist in the real world, respond when we press. They send a signal that makes us happy, saying: something in this world really responds as it should.

The fake button on the iPhone 7 only makes us angry. iPhone 8 doesn't even have any physical buttons.

Besides the above "inventions", can you tell which features of iPhone 7 make it really better than 6S?

Of all the innovations we want from Apple, such as rechargeable and replaceable batteries, new headphone jacks or design with security features, can Apple be ready to bring anything? ?

There are reasons why iPhone 8 is not necessary even though we have not held it in our hands. Among them are:

1. At a price of $ 800, you have to pay for the yearly income of almost everyone in Sub-Saharan Africa.
2. There will be controversy over whether Apple will continue to exploit resources to make the iPhone, causing a vicious cycle of environmental destruction and human rights.
3. With $ 800, you can invest and actually make money, such as virtual currency.
4. Do you really want to have facial recognition technology on your phone?

Most importantly, when the iPhone 8 is bright, bright, expensive, even though the iPhone 7 is in the world, 6S is really a great bargain.

You can sell iPhone 7 to someone, get the headset back, have a button and even a bit of money to invest.

Only iPhone 6S is the world, you don't need 7 or 8 to do anything.
