The video was recorded at a support center in Las Vegas (USA), the iPhone 6S lying on the table suddenly exploded without any impact.

This device is brought to the center by the customer to support replacing the cracked screen due to bulging battery. The exact cause of iPhone 6s has not yet been determined.

Fortunately, no one in the support center was injured in the accident. Currently, Apple has not released any information about this incident.

This is not the first time that the iPhone has exploded, a series of other Apple smartphone exploded. In March 2018, the Canadian couple's house was burned down because of the fire of the iPhone 6 and they demanded compensation from Apple.
