ISO files for Windows 10 20H1 Build 18912 are now available for all 3 variants - Insider Preview, Insider Preview Enterprise and Insider Preview China Home.

Microsoft finally released the first official ISO files of Windows 10 20H1, allowing both Windows Insider users or not using Windows Insider to be able to put the next "clean" Windows 10 update.

ISO files for Windows 10 20H1 Build 18912 are now available for all 3 variants - Insider Preview, Insider Preview Enterprise and Insider Preview China Home.

1. Apple's new iCloud Windows 10 application is now available in MS Store

As we know, the Windows 10 Build 18912 build was released early last week with some additional fixes and improvements, including a new feature set for Narrator. According to the official change, this update will introduce a new Narrator feature, which can read the title of every "Click Here" link found on web pages.

As mentioned, Microsoft has revised some of the problems in this build. For example, an error that caused an unexpected blue screen with win32k.sys was successfully patched. Similarly, Microsoft has overcome a minor problem, in which Text to Speech (TTS) text-to-speech converter cannot read certain emoticons.
