Noritoshi Kamo in Jujutsu Kaisen is a special character. Let's find out the true power of Noritoshi Kamo in Jujutsu Kaisen.

Noritoshi Kamo in Jujutsu Kaisen is a special character. Let's find out the true power of Noritoshi Kamo in Jujutsu Kaisen .

The heir and former descendant of the Kamo Clan - Noritoshi Kamo in Jujutsu Kaisen is a third year student at Kyoto Jujutsu High School. As a magus from one of the three great clans in the Jujutsu Kaisen world (Gojo Clan, Zenin Clan, and Kamo Clan), Noritoshi has always been among the top students in the school.

Using the cursed technique Blood Manipulation, inherited from his family, Noritoshi is highly skilled but cannot guarantee himself as the heir to the Kamo Clan as another successor has already been chosen.

Robbed of his future by his Clan, Noritoshi remains loyal.

Initially, Noritoshi appears as more of an antagonist in the series, but readers later see him build teamwork and work alongside Megumi & Toge. A natural leader (except in Todo's eyes), Noritoshi is able to take command and order his classmates to take down Yuji for being Sukuna's vessel.

Originally the heir to the Kamo Clan, Noritoshi struggles with his identity as he remains loyal to his clan even when he is abandoned. This shows that this character is willing to sacrifice, even if it means proving his worth. He is also disciplined and does not let his emotions get the best of him.

Noritoshi also believes that he is not good enough, so he always tries his best to prove himself, regardless of the fact that he is being watched. Despite his noble lineage, he values strength over status, practical skills, and hard work over necessity. These qualities are clearly shown after the Kyoto Goodwill incident, when Noritoshi fights Megumi. Noritoshi completely underestimated Megumi's abilities, but after witnessing Megumi's strength and abilities, he begins to respect him as a strong individual.

Fighting style and blood control techniques

A powerful warrior is gifted with an even more powerful cursed technique

As a direct descendant of the Kamo Clan, Noritoshi inherited the powerful curse technique - Blood Manipulation which grants him the ability to control and manipulate his blood as a weapon. Not all mages can possess this curse technique, as it is rare and unique. Some of the special attacks include - Piercing Blood, a move that turns blood into a bullet that can be launched at the enemy with the same precision as a gun. This is one of the most powerful moves using the Blood Manipulation technique. Crimson Binding is another powerful move that Noritoshi uses to bind the opponent with blood, which temporarily stops the enemy in its tracks. The Flowing Red Scale attack allows Noritoshi to increase his speed and physical strength by increasing the blood circulation in his body, making him stronger. Finally, Convergence - the ability to concentrate on blood to make its density more dense.

Noritoshi's fighting style is more tactical than brute force, unlike his counterparts such as Todo, Noritoshi fights with a calculated approach and assesses his opponent's weaknesses before engaging. He is also very proficient in the use of a bow and arrow. Arrows infused with blood allow Noritoshi to control their direction. This form of attack is effective against long-range attacks and is also seen in his fight with Megumi, where the character launches and controls the direction of the arrows to target Megumi. However, Noritoshi also has a few weaknesses. He cannot use his cursed technique for long periods of time because it relies on his blood, and excessive use of blood can cause his body to gradually become exhausted. He also has difficulty against opponents who use brute force, such as Todo and Yuji, as his precise attacks are easily overcome by brute force.
