

Just released, Lost Ark has become the hottest game on Steam

Only been on the shelves for a few short days, but Lost Ark has surpassed many other big players on Steam with a record number of concurrent players.

On February 12, Lost Ark was officially available on Steam and quickly became a craze on this platform with a record of 1.3 million concurrent players. If compared with many other super products, this is the highest number that a game has achieved in the past 2 years on Steam.

For a long time, CS:GO dominated the Steam rankings, but when Lost Ark was released, the dominance of the top FPS shooter produced by Valve was gone. Accordingly, Lost Ark has won the top 1 position on Steam and is also the only name to beat CS: GO for more than 2 years.

For gamers who do not know, Lost Ark is an action role-playing game and was first released in Korea, then in Russia and most recently globally. Currently, Lost Ark is being released by Amazon Game Studios for free on Steam and any gamer can download it to experience. However, to be able to play Lost Ark, Vietnamese gamers will have to fake IP abroad due to Amazon Game Studios' policy.

Since its launch, Lost Ark has been appreciated for its beautiful graphics and greatly elaborated by the developer. Not only that, the gameplay of Lost Ark also impresses many gamers because it is quite similar to the Diablo game series with a large open world map and a dungeon system that goes on forever without getting bored.
