Luvaglio - a British luxury goods manufacturer has just produced the world's first $ 1 million laptop. 17 inch wide screen, LED light and specially designed to counteract light when used.

This $ 1 million laptop is equipped with a 128 GB SSD drive, using a Blu-ray player. The product is integrated with a 'cleaning' part of the screen and a diamond attached to the body to both act as a button to start the machine and to function as a security device for the laptop.

Rohan Sinclair Luvaglio, CEO of Luvaglio, said: 'Unlike other expensive devices, we want to make a difference to attract consumers to sophisticated details on the machine instead of 'overhaul '. with a diamond or gold for products'.

Luvaglio said, consumers will be able to choose products or order according to the demand for color, body material.

The first 'masterpiece' launched in the near future will cost more than 1 million USD.
