

Laptop has maximum screen width

S6510 is the Lifebook product of Fujitsu (Japan) with SlimEdge design (narrowing the sides of the screen to the maximum), which helps to increase the screen area significantly.

S6510 is the Lifebook product of Fujitsu (Japan) with SlimEdge design (narrowing the sides of the screen to the maximum), which helps to increase the screen area significantly.

The S6510 weighs about 1.7kg, featuring a 14.1-inch wide screen (instead of being limited to 13.3inches like regular laptops), allowing two simultaneous applications to open, very useful in some task; use LED technology.

Configuration:

- Intel Core 2 Duo 7700 processor
- Use Windows Vista Business or Windows XP Professional operating system

- Ram: 4GB (maximum)
- Hard drive: 120GB (maximum of 160GB)
- Graphics card: Intel GMA X4100

- 1.3 megapixel webcam

- Integrated: Gigabit Ethernet, WiFi in 802.11a / b / g / n standard

Drive: can choose DVD / CD - RW (DVD reading, CD burning) or dual - layer DVD (read and burn DVD)

- Connection port: 3 USB 2.0 ports, S-Video output port, SD / xD memory card slot

In addition, it supports PCMCIA / II card reader, Bluetooth connection . The price of the product ranges from $ 1,529 to $ 2,519 depending on each configuration.

Independence flexible

You finished reading the article "Laptop has maximum screen width" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.