

Laptop playing new PC game from Origin PC

Computer maker Origin PC recently announced a new gaming laptop called EON13-S.

Computer maker Origin PC recently announced a new gaming laptop called EON13-S.

The device is equipped with the 4th generation Core i chip (according to leaked news, it will include the i7-4900MQ models with 2.8GHz speed, the i7-4800MQ at 2.70GHz, the i7-4700MQ at 2.40GHz; NVIDIA GTX 765M graphics card, 3 storage drives including 2 mSATA drives supporting RAID configuration, 13 inch screen with 1920x1080 resolution.

EON13-S will support up to 16 GB of RAM, of which 4 GB of RAM is the capacity for the basic configuration. Origin PC said the product will allow users to have multiple upgrade and customization options, with the lowest configuration at $ 1474.

Video introduction:

You finished reading the article "Laptop playing new PC game from Origin PC" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.