

Latest Black Widow trailer: The master copy of Taskmaster 'directs' the Avengers skills without skipping

With the ability to copy fighting style with just one observation, Taskmaster has 'directed' the many pillars of the Avengers such as Captain America, Black Panther or Black Widow himself.

On Monday night (March 9), Marvel unexpectedly released the third and final trailer for Black Widow. This is the opening movie for MCU phase 4, scheduled to hit theaters in Vietnam on April 30. If you're still in the dark, take a look at this article.

In his first movie, Black Widow (Scarlett Johansson) will temporarily leave the Avengers team, returning to the spy training academy The Red Room to confront Taskmaster. Fans of Marvel comics are probably no stranger to this villain, who possesses the ability to copy the style, fighting movements of others just by observing. And to prove his level, Taskmaster has 'directed' the skills of a lot of Avengers in these 3 short trailers, including big names like Captain America, Black Panther, Hawkeye and even the main. Black Widow.

Shoot a skillful arrow like gunner Hawkeye

Since appearing in the first trailer, Taskmaster has shown his skillful shooting of arrows - a skill that can be said to be characteristic of Hawkeye, a close associate of Black Widow. That has led many fans to hypothesize that Hawkeye will be the main villain in this movie. However, Marvel Studios has confirmed that Black Widow 2020 will be set after Captain America: Civil War and before Avengers: Infinity War. This is the time Natasha Romanoff and Clint Barton have been close friends, there's no reason they have to fight each other (unless Hawkeye was brainwashed by Loki like in Avengers 1).

The latest trailer also reveals that Taskmaster is the moderator / or hijacker of the current The Red Room. In order to acquire one of the world's most specialized assassins, it is not surprising that he mastered a variety of weapons, including bows and arrows. Therefore, the theory of Taskmaster and Hawkeye is almost impossible, but not except that he has carefully researched close friend of Black Widow to be ready to deal with this female spy.

Throw professional shields like Captain America

In the second trailer, Taskmaster returns to the shield with his signature stylized T logo. And until the latest trailer, we can see clearly how he uses this shield to a professional level, not inferior to Captain America. Not only defending, deflecting bullets, Taskmaster even threw his shield to kill Black Widow - a typical combat action of Steve Rogers.

In the latest trailer there is also a scene of Red Guardian, Black Widow's former partner, throwing his shield skillfully when fighting in the cabin. Therefore, it is possible that Taskmaster reverted to this character's fighting style. However, if you think carefully, the Red Guardian is known as Russia's Captain America, so the fact that Taskmaster learns no one between these two people is much different.

"Dao" includes the Black Panther's claws

Black Panther's own movie in theaters in 2018 has really created a terrible fever for Marvel fans. Not only brings a beautiful Wakanda with many advanced technologies, Black Panther is also famous for his 'superhuman transformation' and the cheerful 'Wakanda Forever' line. And in the latest Black Widow trailer, we are once again seeing this movement, but not from T'Challa, but as Taskmaster.

Not just a simple copy, we can see that the Taskmaster has actually equipped with sharp claws no less than Black Panther to solo with the Red Guardian. However, because the fight scene between these two characters only appears briefly in the trailer, it is currently difficult to assess how Taskmaster has mastered the 'martial arts' part of Black Panther.

And study carefully the fighting style of Black Widow

The first trailer of the new trailer shows the fight between Taskmaster and Natasha, when he throws a shield like Steve Rogers. Later, we see the Taskmaster ponder the Black Widow's fighting skills from the footage extracting events that happened in Iron Man 2. This is also the first movie to mark the appearance of the Widow. black in MCU.

After learning, Taskmaster immediately applied the style of Black Widow to fight with the Red Guardian himself. This is most evident through the superhero landing typical of the Black Widow in Iron Man 2.

Earlier, it was widely reported that Robert Downey Jr. There will also be a small cameo in Black Widow. It is likely that this will be the way Iron Man appears, through the video that Taskmaster uses to study Natasha's fighting skills. However, all has just stopped at the rumor level and Marvel Studios has not yet made any official confirmation at all.

The last detail to note is that the identity of the actor who plays the role of Taskmaster is still a mystery even though Marvel has released 3 different trailers in nearly 3 months. Therefore, it is likely that this will be an extremely sharp twist revealed in the official release, and it is unknown that the MCU's copy master is a familiar character to the audience.

According to Cinemablend

You finished reading the article "Latest Black Widow trailer: The master copy of Taskmaster 'directs' the Avengers skills without skipping" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.