

Lenovo launched the world's smallest desktop computer in the Vietnamese market

Lenovo has just launched the world's smallest desktop computer in Vietnam including the Lenovo ThinkCentre M90n-1 Nano and the ThinkCentre M90n-1 Nano IoT.

Lenovo has just launched the world's smallest desktop computer in Vietnam including the Lenovo ThinkCentre M90n-1 Nano and the ThinkCentre M90n-1 Nano IoT. With just a single cable, this compact desktop saves space, power, but delivers powerful performance and ease of management.

ThinkCentre M90n-1 Nano

About a third the size of the Tiny ThinkCentre model and weighing just 505g, the ThinkCentre M90n-1 Nano is the world's smallest desktop model today. ThinkCentre M90n-1 Nano makes the workspace not only tidy but also saves up to 30% power.

The Lenovo ThinkCentre M90n-1 Nano weighs only 505g.

The smallest new desktop model in the world, though compact, still possesses the powerful performance of a conventional desktop computer, easily handle heavy tasks, easily switch between tasks, processing speed. fast, diverse I / O ports . All the power of Lenovo ThinkCentre M90n-1 Nano comes from 8th-generation Intel Core vPro processor to Core i7 with high-speed SSD, can upgrade memory to DDR4 16GB, support for USB Type-C display port or Type-C dock.

ThinkCentre M90n-1 Nano IoT

ThinkCentre M90n-1 Nano IoT is capable of withstanding extreme operating temperatures with wide temperature range (0-50oC) and withstand high vibration environment through MIL-STD-tested military tests that help unlock the potential of Internet Everything (IoT).

ThinkCentre M90n-1 Nano IoT.

This new IoT desktop model is equipped with an amazingly quiet fanless heatsink. ThinkCentre M90n-1 Nano IoT acts as a secure IoT gateway providing security and processing capabilities for IoT devices that need real-time response at the network edge, even in harsh environments. .

ThinkCentre M90n-1 Nano and ThinkCentre M90n-1 Nano IoT are expected to cost 639 USD and 539 USD respectively.

1. Sycamore, Google's quantum supercomputer only takes 2 seconds to mine the remaining 3 million Bitcoin?
2. AMD introduces 3rd Generation Threadripper CPU, the world's most powerful computer CPU

You finished reading the article "Lenovo launched the world's smallest desktop computer in the Vietnamese market" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.