

LG will release both LG V50 and LG G8 at the same time this month?

The Korean manufacturer is expected to introduce two high-end products at the same time this year, LG G8 ThinQ and a second device, supporting 5G.

Mobile World Congress - one of the biggest technology events of the year will take place in Barcelona later this month, and this is an occasion for LG to confirm its position in the capital market. There is this fierce competition. The Korean manufacturer is expected to introduce its two high-end products at the same time this year: LG G8 ThinQ and a second device, supporting 5G, more advanced, very much. Will be LG V50 ThinQ 5G.

1. The most remarkable smartphone models 5G will be released in February, who will lead the game?

This rumor stems from the Korean technology news website ETNews, which said LG V50 will have a 6-inch screen, 855 7nm Snapdragon chipset with the ability to cool and use 4,000mAh battery, especially a lot of capabilities. This smartphone will be equipped with an additional 5G modem.

If V50 appears at MWC, it means that this device will be released sooner than expected as well as LG's annual product launch tradition. LG V40 was only introduced last fall, which is less than a year and of course, users don't want LG to release V50 so soon. However, shortening the launch time, or rather shortening the life cycle of the product will be especially necessary if LG wants to keep up with Samsung, because the manufacturer will definitely launch the first 5G device. my first in the first half of 2019 (Galaxy S10), and of course LG did not want to lose market share to fellow countrymen.

However, urgency can bring disappointment. The fact that LG shortens the time to launch new products to compete with rivals may prevent them from taking care of their equipment. For example, if LG only upgraded the processor and modem for the V50, the end result might be an unremarkable device compared to the V40, and then, users would have to consider carefully whether it should Spending a lot of money to upgrade to the version is not too much difference.

1. Will LG G8 be equipped with 2 screens?

ETNews said that if launched at MWC, V50 will surely have a front in some of LG's main markets, North America and Europe from March. This is also consistent with the announcement from Sprint operator (United States), said in August last year that it had partnered with LG to release a new 5G phone and will reach users right in the first half of 2019. Any questions will be answered in three weeks. Let's wait and see!
