

List of 114 fake virus removal programs

The malware tricked users into installing and paying for fake anti-virus software without cleaning the computer, nor protecting it against viruses.

Counterfeiting of anti-virus software has become a development problem in recent years. The malware tricked users into installing and paying for fake anti-virus software without cleaning the computer, nor protecting it against viruses.

In contrast, these fake antivirus software are themselves malware, disable essential services and legitimate anti-virus software, thus making the computer more susceptible to infection. withdraw more.

The problem will arise when users enter fake antivirus software. After installing it, the "antivirus" program will start virus scanning and "detect" some viruses and Trojans in the system.

Users will be advised to remove the detected hazards, but to do so they will have to buy fake products. And users will not expect to end this process by paying for an undefined threat. According to one estimate, last year 25 million computers worldwide were infected with fake antivirus software.

Microsoft's Malware Protection Center has identified 114 fake antivirus programs, you should consult this list to avoid being infected with malware.
