

Live Tiles will really go into oblivion if the Windows 10 20H1 Start Menu looks great like this

Certainly many of us don't like the idea of eliminating the heads of Live Tiles in Redmond.

Rumors of Microsoft will redesign the Start Menu and remove the inherently new Live Tiles, but until now, the first images of the new Start Menu design appeared due to leaks. from Microsoft itself.

The fact that Windows 10 Build 18947 (used in the Xbox development team) was accidentally released (leaked) to test users under the Windows Insider program, has confirmed that Microsoft will not only be sure to remove Live Tiles, which will be removed thoroughly from the release of Windows 10 20H1. About changes to Start Menu on Windows 10 Build 18947, please refer to here).

1. Windows Defender is one of the best antivirus applications in the world

Image of the Start Menu interface leaked from Windows 10 Build 18947 update

Certainly many of us don't like the idea of eliminating the heads of Live Tiles in Redmond. Many people after watching the introduction video of the Start Menu after Live Tiles has been removed must say that this is probably the worst user interface they've ever seen. Of course, bad beauty depends on the aesthetic viewpoint of each person, but the words of criticism must definitely be the reason.

The traditional Live Tiles on Windows 10 have been replaced by relatively scientifically arranged application icons on a gray background. However, to ensure consistency with the background, the design of the system icons also changes to dark tones - which looks quite boring. Although this is just a leaked version of Start Menu in Windows 10 Build 18947, but not many people believe that there will be more prosperity in the official launch version. Of course Microsoft still has nearly a year to 'polish' this interface, and hopefully everything will be great.

1. Appeared to design Microsoft's new Action Center, the corners are more elegant and modern

Let's temporarily ignore the controversy about the bad issue, because Microsoft has made their decision anyway. Instead, take the time to think about more 'cool' things. A group of enthusiastic fanboys with Windows 10 recently designed a short video, which presents their ideas of a more wonderful interface for Start Menu, please consult:

The idea of ??a new Start Menu interface, replacing Live Tiles

I don't know how you feel about this new Live Tiles alternative design idea, but from a personal perspective, I think it's not only beautiful, friendly, but also more intuitive. a lot more than the leaked version of Microsoft a few days ago. If Microsoft can consult this idea, or launch an even better design, that's really welcome. I think there will not be many people regret the disappearance of Live Tiles if Windows 10 can own such a great Start Menu interface.

1. Microsoft releases a new Windows 10 update, Microsoft Edge will be hidden if you install Edge Chromium

What do you think about this interesting Start Menu interface? Do you think this will be a perfect replacement for Live Tiles? Let us know in the comments section below!

You finished reading the article "Live Tiles will really go into oblivion if the Windows 10 20H1 Start Menu looks great like this" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.