The gun combos in Rules of Survival

Here are the gun combos on Rules of Survival.

For example, in Combo 1, M4A1 will still be the key weapon used by gamers because the gun has high stability, high damage, can destroy the enemy at close range to long distance. You can then carry the M1887 handgun with strong damage at close range. No matter what position you shoot, you will be on the scoreboard.

Or you can use Combo 2 to be Thompson with M14EBR. Thompson will promote full strength at close distances. Thompson will often use to destroy buildings, hills or overwhelming enemies.

M14EBR is a rifle, exerting power on targets far away. This is a gun with great stability in the game. Whether you shoot at a distance or near, the ability to kill opponents is still very high.

Thus can be seen in the combo, the main slot will be guns capable of attacking at both long distances and near distances. Also in slot 2 can be shotgun, only full power at close range.

When combining these two gun types, it will minimize the target's sliding rate, when the pistol is capable of destroying the enemy in close range, but the gun will retaliate the enemy at long distances. You can use the strategy to reduce enemy blood with M4A1, AR15 and then close it to lower the enemy with handguns.

Of course, any gun or combination of guns will depend on the player, as well as the specific situation you encounter. But gamers can refer to the above gun combos to apply in their battle in ROS.
