

Megaverse: A 'zero-gravity' case that allows smartphones to be mounted on any surface

In addition, the Megaverse case can be turned into a wallet, a mirror or a beer opener.

We all have times when we want to spend our free time on our phones and movies, watching TV, for example when we're cooking or brushing our teeth. At this time, is there any way to stick the phone on the shelf or on the mirror is so good.

That's why the Megaverse Anti-Gravity case is created: It has a special back surface that allows it to adhere to many surfaces, materials, from glass mirrors, marble tiles, writing boards or panels. control car. Thanks to that, no matter what your hands are, there are many things you can do on your phone.

At first glance, Megaverse Anti-Gravity looks like a durable case.

Not only does the phone stand still on an inclined surface, the nano suction of the Nanoverse back cover is strong enough to keep the device from falling off the glass. You can even mount the phone upside down on the ceiling.

This case allows the device to be mounted tightly on surfaces such as glass, wood, metal .

Despite being able to stick to many materials, Megaverse still feels like holding like a regular protective case. It will not stick to the user's hands and has a very long life, not affected by water, oil or other types of dirt. Dust sticks can be cleaned with water or a soft damp cloth.

Three models of accessories are included to increase the capacity for the case. You can see more about them in the video below.

In addition, Megaverse case also comes with three additional accessory models to replace the wallet, mirror and bottle opener. The manufacturer may soon bring more accessories to Megaverse.
