Since 0h on 11/14, Messenger application on mobile platform in Vietnam has been officially updated with the new interface: minimalistic interface with 3 main tabs, select 2 color chat at the same time. Users who only need to go to Messenger are automatically updated immediately.

The reason Facebook decided to reshuffle Messenger is because the company thinks that the interface and functions in the application are currently crammed too much and unreasonably arranged. Meanwhile, many users only treat Messenger as a tool to communicate, so they can simply be.

After the change, Messenger has a more minimalist interface, improved chat icons, and a more coherent display of content. In addition, the new Messenger also allows users to choose a two-color mutation format to decorate the conversation background depending on the direction of scrolling / scrolling down the conversation.

According to the reflections of some early users, the new Messenger has a nice and simple interface, convenient for users. But besides, some other users claim that Messenger Messenger doesn't match the traditional style of the day before.

Update:

However, only a few hours after updating the new interface, Facebook Messenger has returned to the old interface. This is not only the case with Messenger users in Vietnam, but users all over the world are also updated to the old interface.

Reflection of users about Facebook Messenger returning to the old interface after turning it off and relaunching. According to Android Police, the cause of the incident may be because Facebook is trying to test the new interface but the number of users is updated to exceed the original intention. Or Facebook Messenger must go back to the old interface to fix it because of some unexpected new interface errors detected.

See more:

1. Messenger users will have 10 minutes to retract the message they do not want to send
2. Facebook has a chat-only website that was born in 2015 and few users noticed
3. The interface of Messenger messages is converted to a square and this is a fix
