

Mi Watch 'Forbidden City', round screen, Snapdragon Wear 2100, priced from 4.3 million

Xiaomi recently launched a new smartwatch called the Mi Watch Forbidden City (Forbidden City) with a different design than the first Mi Watch launched in early November.

Xiaomi recently launched a new smartwatch called the Mi Watch Forbidden City (Forbidden City) with a different design than the first Mi Watch launched in early November.

Mi Watch Forbidden City is equipped with a round instead of square screen as the first generation, has a size of 1.3 inches, resolution of 360x360 pixels. The chassis has two buttons to help users easily navigate.

The power of Mi Watch Forbidden City comes from Snapdragon Wear 2100 processor, 512MB RAM and 4GB internal memory. Similar to the Mi Watch, this device runs Android Wear operating system from Google. The smartwatch is equipped with a battery capacity of 400mAh, enough to give users 24 hours of use.

The frame of the Mi Watch Forbidden City is made of 316L stainless steel (Austenitic steel containing chromium-nickel and 3% molybdenum). Its leather strap is made from real cowhide imported directly from Italy with 2 colors for users to choose from green and black.

Expected, the Mi Watch "Forbidden City" will be sold on 31/1 to, with a capital contribution of 1299 Yuan (about 4.3 million). When the fundraising time is up, the device will return to its normal selling price of 1699 Yuan (about VND 5.7 million).

1. Xiaomi launched 2 fancy mechanical keyboards and fancy wireless mice

2. Xiaomi launches 10,000mAh backup charger, USB PD fast charging, cost more than 300,000
3. Experience Xiaomi Mi Note 10, the first smartphone equipped with a 108MP main camera, priced at 13 million VND in Vietnam

You finished reading the article "Mi Watch 'Forbidden City', round screen, Snapdragon Wear 2100, priced from 4.3 million" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.