What is so special about Flight Simulator 2020 that it can be so heavy?

Flight Simulator recreates the entire surface of the earth

Microsoft uses its advanced technology to fully reuse the Earth and bring it into this game. All will be reproduced through data from Bing map with an error of only 3cm from houses, buildings, cities to airports, seaports .

Aircraft in the game are also beautiful to every detail

The aircraft system in the game is very diverse and rich, all designed and built extremely detailed and meticulous from the prototypes of famous airlines such as Bombardier, Airbus, Boeing .

In addition, Microsoft has hired many experts in the field of aviation to provide technical advice to increase the authenticity of the game.

All to bring the feeling of the most realistic experience possible for players.

The weather and climate in the game are 100% synchronized compared to reality

Flight Simulator 2020 is synchronized by Microsoft and constantly updated with weather conditions around the world. Rain, storms, fog, volcanic dust, forest fires . will in fact be 100% reproduced in the game. For example, in real life, Noi Bai airport rains at 10am today, at that time you will see exactly the rain that takes place at Noi Bai airport.

How to play a game that weighs up to 2 million GB?

Flight Simulator will be saved on Microsoft's Azura cloud system so to play this heavy game, players only need to sync their PC with this system.

At the moment, Microsoft has not announced the detailed configuration and release date of the Flight Simulator game.
