

Microsoft Office 2013 will be released on July 16

USA Today newspaper has revealed that Microsoft will unveil a new version of its Office text editor on July 16.

USA Today newspaper has revealed that Microsoft will unveil a new version of its Office text editor on July 16.

This is considered an important step to prepare for the launch of Windows 8 operating system in October.

Currently, Microsoft is still the "king" in the global software market, in which Office has a very important role to bring to " $ 22.2 billion in revenue of nearly $ 70 billion for Microsoft, in fiscal year 2011. '

With that achievement, the Office block has surpassed all other Microsoft activity blocks on its ability to earn revenue.

USA Today says that on July 16, the "software giant" will introduce some notable new features of Office 2013, thereby promising to bring a wealth of gadgets to Windows computer users. .

You finished reading the article "Microsoft Office 2013 will be released on July 16" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.