

Microsoft Office version for iPad and Lion

On November 29, The Daily reported that Microsoft Corporation is developing a special version of the famous MS Office office suite for rival Apple tablet iPad.

On November 29, The Daily reported that Microsoft Corporation is developing a special version of the famous MS Office office suite for rival Apple tablet iPad.

In addition, the source said Microsoft also prepared an Office update for the Lion operating system, and will provide Mac users through the Mac App Store online application store.

New Office applications for Lion will cost about $ 10 per device, or the same price as Apple's Keynote, Numbers and Pages applications.

In addition, Microsoft Office for Lion also supports synchronization with Office 365 and other mobile versions of this office application.

Meanwhile, the release schedule and price of the Office version for iPad has not been disclosed.

In an interview about the information, Microsoft said: 'We have provided Office suite on many different platforms and devices, and plans to expand Office will continue to be implemented in the future. . However, at this point, Microsoft has no more information to share .'

You finished reading the article "Microsoft Office version for iPad and Lion" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.
