

Microsoft released 3 utility apps for Android

Microsoft has launched two applications for Android smartphones and an application for Android Wear smartwatch. These applications are very simple and convenient, they will save you a lot of time as well as enhance your connectivity and sharing.

Microsoft has launched two applications for Android smartphones and an application for Android Wear smartwatch. These applications are very simple and convenient, they will save you a lot of time as well as enhance your connectivity and sharing.

Usually you will have to say " OK Google " when you want to use voice search on the Android Wear smartwatch. However, with Microsoft's new application called Torque you can shake your wrist to start searching with Bing. You just need to say what you want to find. Microsoft optimizes search results for a number of areas such as maps, stocks and weather.

In addition, Microsoft also introduced two very handy applications for Android smartphones. Next Lock Screen application will push important information such as missed calls, frequently used applications to the phone screen. You can also change the lock screen background depending on your location.

Meanwhile, Journeys & Notes application allows you to share with anyone about your itineraries or find others' directions for your journey.

All three applications are provided by Microsoft for free and you can download and try them by clicking on the links below:

1. Torque
2. Next Lock Screen
3. Journeys & Notes

You finished reading the article "Microsoft released 3 utility apps for Android" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.