

Microsoft released a completely new LinkedIn application for Windows 10

Microsoft announced the completion of its acquisition of LinkedIn last year. More than a year later, the new and completely new LinkedIn application for Windows 10 has finally appeared. Let's see what LinkedIn's new look looks like!

Last year, Microsoft announced the acquisition of LinkedIn. More than a year later, the new and completely new LinkedIn application for Windows 10 has finally appeared. However, this application is currently only available for PC.

Microsoft has built some basic features of Windows 10 into this application. For example, the application includes support for real-time notification and it will display all your notifications from LinkedIn in Action Center in Windows 10. This application is also integrated into the Start Menu of Windows 10, Show you the latest notifications and other data from LinkedIn on Live Tile. Users will feel that LinkedIn is a positive social network, not just where people visit when they want to change their jobs.

Currently Microsoft is releasing this application on Windows Store. As expected, this application will be available to all users later this month.

You finished reading the article "Microsoft released a completely new LinkedIn application for Windows 10" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.