

Microsoft stopped supporting Skype for Business, Microsoft Teams and Yammer on Windows Phone in May

According to the latest announcement on Microsoft's website, 3 Windows Store business applications including Skype for Business, Microsoft Teams and Yammer for Windows Phone will be closed from May 20, 2018.

According to the latest announcement on Microsoft's website, 3 Windows Store business applications including Skype for Business, Microsoft Teams and Yammer for Windows Phone will be closed from May 20, 2018.

This means that these 3 applications will disappear from Windows Store next month. For users who have installed Yammer and Skype for Business, these applications still work but will not receive any feature updates or patches from Microsoft anymore.

Microsoft Teams will stop working completely on Windows Phone so when an user tries to connect, an error message will appear. If you want to use it, users can only use this group chat service through the web browser.

Redmond giant advises customers that if they want to use applications, they should switch to supported platforms such as iOS, Android, Windows or macOS computers.

Microsoft has stopped supporting Windows Phone 8.1 since July 2017. This means that Windows Phone has been killed, it is currently only in maintenance mode for those who are using it.

See more:

1. Microsoft Translator can translate offline with AI on almost any device
2. Microsoft has updated Telex percussion on Windows 10 build 17643 for Vietnamese users, but not yet used
3. For the first time, Microsoft developed a customized and integrated Linux version of its product after 45 years

You finished reading the article "Microsoft stopped supporting Skype for Business, Microsoft Teams and Yammer on Windows Phone in May" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.