

Microsoft updates Skype for mobile phones with Google and TripAdvisor & StubHub add-ons

Microsoft Skype application has announced a new wide-area update for Android and iOS devices.

Microsoft Skype application has announced a new wide-area update for Android and iOS devices. The main highlight of this update is the addition of TripAdvisor integration with StubHub to Skype users who often organize trips and business right in the group chat section.

How to use this feature? It is quite simple. The first thing you need to do after installing the update is to click or click the Add button to chat +, scroll down and select Hotel. Then you can search for a specific destination or city you want to visit.

With deeper improvements, you can search for hotels, restaurants and other things you can do in the area, after choosing your destination. All the information you find can then be shared in the group chat, which will be very helpful when you want to make travel plans with the group.

StubHub utility for Skype users who want to plan events. After opening the StubHub plug-in, you will be able to search for a specific event, location or date you want. In addition, the feature will show you how many tickets are available during the event and will even give you the tools to find the right ticket at the price you like.

Newly launched add-ons for Android and iOS devices now, but it can take several days to reach all phones, so be patient if you don't see them right away.
