

Microsoft will rename the Skydrive service to Microsoft Drive in the UK

In a recent court ruling that led to Microsoft risking losing the SkyDrive brand in the country because BSKyB was worried that SkyDrive's name might be mistaken for Sky's streaming video services. they

In a recent court ruling that led to Microsoft risking losing the SkyDrive brand in the country because BSKyB was worried that SkyDrive's name might be mistaken for Sky's streaming video services. they .

In response, Microsoft is also preparing to appeal the ruling, but if the company fails to regain the brand, chances are it will have to change its name to SkyDrive .

Before that move, it seems that Microsoft has prepared for the worst possible case. Recently, on a discussion site appeared the name " Microsoft Drive " in Windows 8.1 operating system and users can be found in PC Settings. So Microsoft has a backup plan for its SkyDrive name with the replacement of another name.

Users hope that Microsoft will not have to use the name Microsoft Drive because SkyDrive is now a well-known cloud storage service that has become familiar and a name change in Europe could lead to a loss of market. part of the company.

You finished reading the article "Microsoft will rename the Skydrive service to Microsoft Drive in the UK" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.