

Mobile Coalition does not support new maps for iPhone 5 / 5S

The new map of Mobile 10v10 will not support weak configuration devices.

Lien Quan Mobile has just released the map of battlefield 10v10, with many updates such as improving the ranking mode, mastering the general and increasing the power of general, . but not for smartphones with weak configuration, including including iPhone 5 / 5S.

Accordingly, gamers who want to experience this new map with 10v10 battlefield scale need to ensure some requirements including:

1. The models are lower than the minimum requirements (iPhone 5 / 5s): Will not be able to attend the mode due to the lack of minimum configuration requirements.
2. The models just meet the minimum requirements such as iPhone 6 / 6s or Android devices with clock frequency ~ 1250 Mhz: Will experience lag or crash halfway.
3. Users should update the operating system to the latest version (iOS 12.2, latest Android) for a better experience.

Battlefield 10v10 brings gamers to the battle around the revival rite of Volkath the lord between the Athanor alliance and the defense of the Mixed Zone more attractive. The members of each team are increased to 10 people along with the latest forest monster system. That's why the battle will be more intense than ever, beating battles faster. The generals in this new map are also equipped with more skills and attributes than the previous map.

If the user completes the battles in the 10v10 map, he / she will receive the normal money to enhance the general's skills. This amount does not affect other game modes. General skills can be quickly enhanced to level 3, the first stage can experience 90% of the feeling of strengthening after a battle. New monsters added on both sides of the border have a big impact on the battlefield.
