Motorola has unveiled the Aura Diamond Edition version with gold-plated, diamond-clad casing.

Aura diamond version costs 3,800 euros.

The design of the new model is not much different from the original Aura sold for $ 2,000 before. The machine is gilded around, encrusted with 34 diamonds, 30 in the screen frame and 4 in the navigation key.

The configuration of the new device is almost identical to the original version, this model runs on quad-band GSM, 2 Megapixel camera, 2 GB internal memory, round AMOLED screen with a diameter of 480 pixels,

The Motorola Aura Diamond Edition sells for 3,800 euros, which will be available today in some international markets. No information about the time of this model appears in Vietnam.
