

Mozilla officially launched Firefox 25

After a waiting period, October 29, Mozilla launched Firefox 25 web browser version for users.

After a waiting period, October 29, Mozilla launched Firefox 25 web browser version for users.

Firefox 25 has appeared - (Screenshot)

According to Neowin, Firefox 25 added a browsing mode for strangers. With this mode, users can allow their friends to borrow computers to surf the web but they will not be able to access your bookmarks and browsing history.

In addition, Firefox 25 adds a Mixed Content Blocker feature to help users restrict insecure content while surfing the web, improve surfing mode faster and fix security flaws in previous Firefox versions. .

Currently, Windows, Mac and Linux users can download the free version of Firefox 25. Besides, Firefox 25 also has an Android version.

Mozilla also confirmed that it will continue to support Windows XP after April 8, 2014 (this is the time when Microsoft stopped providing support for the 10-year-old operating system). That is, after this time Mozilla will still have new web browser versions for Windows XP.

You finished reading the article "Mozilla officially launched Firefox 25" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.