

MSI will grow 50% in 2010

MSI plans to market all-in-one and 3D laptops to achieve 50% growth this year.

MSI plans to market all-in-one and 3D laptops to achieve 50% growth this year.

According to DigiTimes, MSI - the computer manufacturer that owns the Wind and X-Slim brands - expects sales growth of 50% in 2010. Latest products are introduced by the company at the fair. The recent CES technology is an all-in-one computer with 3D technology. The company is also planning to launch 3D laptop products as soon as possible.

This year, according to plans, MSI as well as many other laptop manufacturers will launch Windows 7 laptops, along with Pineview and the Core i-series chip applications besides the more economical ones. amount of CULV.

MSI's all-in-one 3D computer product. (Photo: MSI)

You finished reading the article "MSI will grow 50% in 2010" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.