At CES 2020, NEC introduced NEC LaVie Pro Mobile, one of the lightest laptops today, but still has a good configuration, good battery life and full utility for users.

If you do not know, NEC is a famous laptop brand in Japan. Its business strategy is primarily introverted so it doesn't gain popularity in other countries. In recent times, NEC has partnered with Lenovo to expand into the US market. NEC LaVie Pro Mobile is one of the products that the brand from the country of cherry blossoms wants to introduce to technology lovers around the world.

NEC LaVie Pro Mobile is an ultra-light laptop, weighs only 837g and is 15.5mm thick. This volume makes it surpass the LG Gram or MacBook 12 to become one of the lightest laptops in the world at the present time.

Although thin and light, NEC LaVie Pro Mobile is still fully equipped with connectors including headphone jack, microSD card slot, 1 USB-A port, 2 USB-C ports and HDMI port.

About configuration, NEC LaVie Pro Mobile is equipped with Intel Core i7-8565U chip, 8GB of RAM, 512GB SSD. It owns a 13.3-inch Full HD screen with anti-glare.

NEC LaVie Pro Mobile has a fingerprint sensor on the power button. The battery of the device has a capacity of 49Wh, which can give a usage time of 15 hours.

NEC will launch LaVie Pro Mobile to the US market in March 2020 for $ 1599.

1. Acer ConceptD 7 Ezel, 4K rotating flip screen, NVIDIA GTX GPU, priced from $ 2699
2. Dell Latitude 9510 officially launched: 5G support, up to 30 hours of battery life
