

New idea of ??Super Jade in League of Legends

Here are some great ideas for Super Gems in League of Legends that can help make this gem come back even more in the meta game.

The Van Nang Stone has not been favored by many players in League of Legends since its launch because it was so unstable and so dependent on luck that it was not really popular in the Arena of Justice.

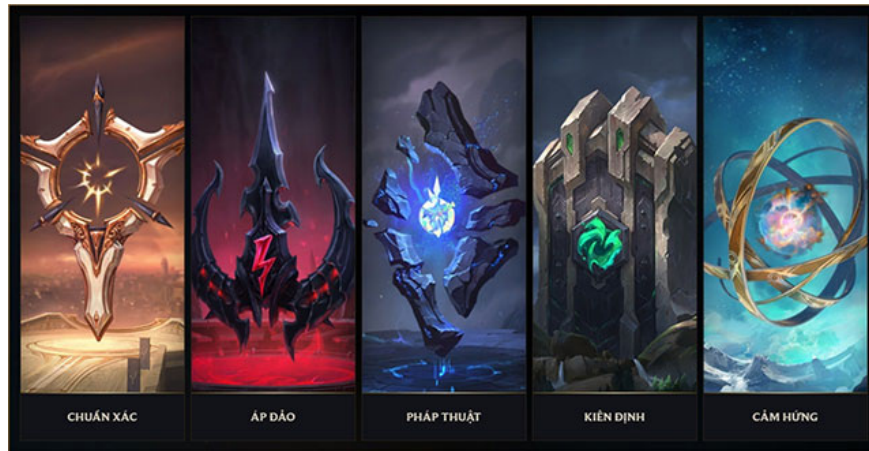

A series of ideas have been proposed in the Pre-Season 2020 for many different changes, besides, the Alliance community also has many new ideas to replace this "Human dignity" gem.

On Reddit recently there was an opinion of a user sharing about changes to the Great Stone. This user said that, if not changed, the Van Nang Stone will be weaker than the Intellectual Presence of the Precision branch.

And there have been 5 proposals for replacing Van Da Da, all of these ideas making it more stable and interesting. And still retain the Inspiration of this pearl branch.

Summoner 's Stone: Basically it will be identical to the Spellbook, except that you can choose your own Jewel. And so the player will be much more active in using the main jewels in the Alliance, instead of having to rely entirely on luck.

Ornn's Forge: Allows gamers to build items right on the road, helping gamers save time when not having to return to build items. But surely Ornn the blacksmith will not like this.

Mini Kettle: Giving you an additional free slot to store consumable items such as Eye Control, Health Potion . Support position players will benefit if this becomes true, especially in the late game. There is no longer a slot for Eye Control.

Giant Baggage: With it you can collect a number of component items - for example, 2 Long Swords will be put into one box, like Eleisa's Miracle.

Tea Blessings: You can lend or receive a copy of the item in your pocket for a few minutes. If your squad is inclined to a certain type of champion, this game will really help, for example, all wizards or assassins for example. However, it may not be able to lend any type of consumer goods.

In addition, if you have any additional ideas to change the Great Wall, you can share it by commenting below.
