

Nokia 3310 Russian-American version made of titanium and 24K gold, priced at 2,610 USD

To celebrate the historic meeting between the head of the White House, Donald Trump and Russian President Vladimir Putin, a Russian phone company called Caviar has released a special version of Nokia 3310 2017 called 'Peacemakers (People who make peace).

To celebrate the historic meeting between the head of the White House, Donald Trump and Russian President Vladimir Putin, a Russian phone company called Caviar has released a special version of Nokia 3310 2017 called 'Peacemakers (People who make peace).

This special phone is made of titanium, on the camera body is a portrait of the two top Russian-American leaders with a face that looks in the same direction made from 24K gold.

Photo: Caviar.

The manufacturer used PVD technology to cover 100% of the titanium metal part of the gold phone to enhance its resistance to corrosion. In addition, Nokia 3310 2017 navigation keys are engraved with crowns.

Photo: Caviar.

Covered with rare materials, Nokia 3310 version of Peacemakers costs up to 2,610 USD, while the original version only costs 65 USD.

It is unclear how many Nokia 3310 Peacemakers are produced but surely Mr. Putin and Mr. Donald Trump will be given the first two samples.

See more:

1. 72% of Vietnamese population use smartphones but 50% of them only listen to texting calls
2. Smartphone with 9 cameras coming soon
3. Drilled through a big hole, the Samsung smartphone still works as a "miracle".

You finished reading the article "Nokia 3310 Russian-American version made of titanium and 24K gold, priced at 2,610 USD" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.