At IFA 2019, Nokia introduced the 2720 Flip phone, marking the return of the flip design that many people loved.

Nokia 2720 Flip is designed simply and modernly, based on the design inspiration of the Nokia 2720 Fold launched in 2009.

It has two screens: a 2.8-inch color screen on the inside and a 1.3-inch monochrome screen on the outside. The buttons of the machine are large.

Nokia 2720 Flip provides a full range of normal messaging and calling functions. The device runs KaiOS, integrating a number of applications such as Google, Google Maps, YouTube, Facebook, WhatsApp. The 2720 Flip even has a built-in Google Assistant to help answer questions, launch applications and input data. Nokia 2720 Flip supports 4G.

The strength of 2720 Flip is the battery life, the machine can stand for 27 days in standby mode.

Nokia 2720 Flip will be sold for 89 euros (2.2 million) in September.
