Your Nokia device has a security code installed by the manufacturer, you need to have this code deep access to the system. In this article, the Software Tips will share to you Nokia Security Code - Summary of Nokia's default security code.

Nokia phones are extremely popular in Vietnam market with phones with numeric keypad. Today Nokia phones are not as popular as they used to be, but there is still a certain market in Vietnam. For Nokia phones, the security system is preinstalled by the manufacturer. In this article, the Software Tips will share to you Nokia Security Code - Summary of Nokia's default security code.

When you first buy a Nokia phone, the manufacturer will default to the code for that phone is 12345. This is the Lock Code (device protection code), this lock code will help you unlock your device. when you need to Reset settings from the beginning or when you have set the Password lock mode for the device.

But if someone has accessed your device and changed the default security code, all you have to do is bring out authorized Nokia chains to run the software again. This will mean the data on your device will be lost.

In addition, you can also change the security code by the following

Go to Menu -> Settings (Settings) -> Security (Sercurity) -> Create security code / Change security code (Create Lock Code / Changer Lock Code)
