

Not the Bermuda triangle, this is the most horrible 'black cemetery' in the world

To this day, the mystery of the horrific disappearances in this dead land has yet to be deciphered and many people are frightened.

The Bermuda Triangle in the West Atlantic is famous for the mysterious disappearances of aircraft, ships or crew, but this is not the most mysterious place in the world. In the state of Alaska, the United States has a vast wilderness known as Alaska's "black cemetery", Alaska's "dead land" or "demon triangle" which is a mysterious disappearance of 16,000 people and many aircraft. since 1988.

To this day, the mystery of these horrific disappearances in this "dead land" has yet to be deciphered and many people are frightened.

The Alaska Triangle is limited from the north of Alaska, the Barrow area, to the Juneau region (southwest of Yukon) and to the west in Anchorage.

Alaska is the 49th state of the United States, located in the northwest of the North American continent. "Ice box" with cold, long days and rugged terrain contains the most unexplainable mysteries on earth.

Since 1988, Alaska has begun to attract American and scientists' attention by a series of unusual supernatural phenomena, the mysterious appearance of UFOs and many strange disappearances.

On January 26, 1950 became the most horrifying day of the US Air Force in the 20th century, 44 people on Douglas C-54-D military aircraft disappeared without leaving a trace or any debris in the air. Works from Alaska to Texas. The four-engine transport aircraft weighing nearly 30,000kg suddenly lost its signal and dissipated in the air like a soap bubble.

The US and Canadian Air Force tried to search for the next three weeks, but without results, even search aircraft suffered from extreme weather. So far, the whereabouts of the Douglas C-54D and the fate of 44 victims are still unexplained mysteries of the US Air Force.

The US military aircraft, Douglas C-54-D, has not found the whereabouts.

After two decades, another mysterious airplane disappearance occurred in this "dead land", the small plane carrying two Democrats Hale Boggs and Nick Begich also disappeared without leaving a trace. on the journey through the Alaska triangle in October 1972.

For 39 days, 400 planes scoured the missing plane area but still had no clue what the fate of 2 MPs and 2 pilots.

In this "dead land" not only happened 2 cases of mysterious missing aircraft but according to statistics since 1988, more than 16,000 people disappeared including tourists, local people.

After a series of mysterious disappearances, people began to look for the cause, but since there were no witnesses or survivors, all the explanations were mystical speculations.

According to the indigenous tribe Tlingit, the evil demons Kushtaka is the culprit of kidnapping humans when they travel through this land to their kingdom. Some believe that Bigfoot is the one who attacked and devoured the missing people.

Captain Kenju Terauchi piloted Japanese Airlines flight 1628, which once reported seeing UFOs. There are also hypotheses regarding UFOs or aliens when there are reports of UFOs appearing in this area. The most famous is the incident with Japanese Airlines flight crew 1628 in 1986. Captain Kenju Terauchi saw two strange objects flying in front of the plane 1628 and emitted strange light in some minute. During that time, the communication from 1628 aircraft to the air traffic control tower on the ground was interrupted, the radar system did not detect the appearance of these two strange objects.

The most popular hypothesis is that the "Alaskan Triangle" has a rugged terrain, the harshest climate on the planet and many wildlife species, so anyone who is lost or injured here is very easy to die.

All this is just a hypothesis, the real reason why Alsaka became a "black cemetery" is still an unexplained mystery that makes scientists crazy.
