

On hand 2 versions of DualSense PS5 controller are sold out Cosmic Red and Midnight Black

Launched in May this year, two versions of the DualSense PS5 controller - Cosmic Red and Midnight Black are sold out at many points of sale.

Ever since the PlayStation 5 launched last November, fans have been frustrated that there is only a blue and white option for this console's controller, the same story happens with the PS5's DualSense controller. . To solve the needs of players, in May, two new colors of the DualSense controller, Midnight Black and Cosmic Red, were released to solve the "boring" problem of gamers, almost instantly. The Midnight Black and Cosmic Red color versions of the DualSense controller, after being opened for sale, quickly fell into "sold out" in many places.

Details about the two versions, Cosmic Red has a design with the main red color accented with attractive jet black, along with the Midnight Black version using two different black colors to create a separate color gamut. eye. As Satoshi Aoyagi of Sony's design team explains: "Both the Midnight Black and Cosmic Red versions are further stylized with a deep blue color that creates distinct shades that are unmistakable".

Going deeper into the details of Cosmic Red, this version possesses unique geometric details on the case, to accurately describe the color of this version will be difficult because it has a bit of a pink tint like It is a blend of red oak, juicy cherries and fiery red rose petals. It can be seen as an object from outer space because of the unique purposeful mixing of colors.

Geometric details on the handle cover

Of course we also need to talk more about Midnight Black, this is like an unsolved mystery, it has a mysterious dark color with the main black color combined with the overall dark gray details when operating. The details of the bold lights appear on the camera body like a halo appearing in the arctic night.

Detailed unboxing video of Cosmic Red and Midnight Black versions

Price of each version: For Cosmic Red is 74.99 USD and for Midnight Black 69.99 USD

You finished reading the article "On hand 2 versions of DualSense PS5 controller are sold out Cosmic Red and Midnight Black" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.