

Opera Android updates new features for tabs

The new Opera Android 89 version has been updated with many new features for tab management, helping users easily manage open tabs on the browser even if you have 100 tabs open.

The new Opera Android 89 version has been updated with many new features for tab management, helping users easily manage open tabs on the browser even if you have 100 tabs open.

Accordingly, Opera browser has added Tab Islands option, allowing you to group related tabs into sections like folders, in addition to tab management layout options such as list and grid tab layout. Users can then group tabs for common purposes or group them according to their usage needs for quick access when needed.

In addition to the updated Tab Islands feature, Opera also has other options for tab management including a handy search bar to quickly find open tabs on the browser, a button to reopen recently closed tabs, and the option to mute any tab without muting the entire phone.

With all the new features updated for tab management on Opera Android version, users have more tools to use tabs more effectively, managing tabs much more conveniently.

You finished reading the article "Opera Android updates new features for tabs" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.