

Opera on Android has unlimited free VPN integration

Opera has long integrated a free VPN service into a browser on a computer and recently they have done this for mobile browsers on Android.

Opera has long integrated a free VPN service into a browser on a computer and recently they have done this for mobile browsers on Android. This means that Opera browser users on Android can access anonymous, unlimited bandwidth and access to some blocked websites.

Currently, the VPN feature is only available on Opera beta, but Opera said it will soon update this feature for all users.

To use Opera VPN on Android devices, users need to access the link below to update to the latest Opera beta version:

<https://play.google.com/store/apps/details?id=com.opera.browser.beta>

facebook

Google

instagram

booking.c...

wikipedia

BBC News

Gmail

Follow us

YouTube

Amazon

Apple releases update to prevent FaceTime eavesdropping

👍 90 AP

Sponsored

Lazada Grand Year End Sale 10-12 Dec

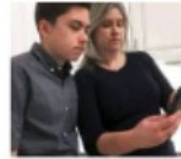

#1 ONLINE SHOPPING DESTINATION 100% Guarantee | Secured Payment | Free Shipping

INSTALL

Apple releases update to prevent FaceTime eavesdropping

90 AP

Sponsored

Lazada Grand Year End Sale 10-12 Dec

#1 ONLINE SHOPPING DESTINATION 100% Guaranteed | Secured

Payment | Free Shipping

LeBron, Giannis choose their tea
Game

55 Houston Chronicle

Would you like to customi

Ad blocking

Night mode

History

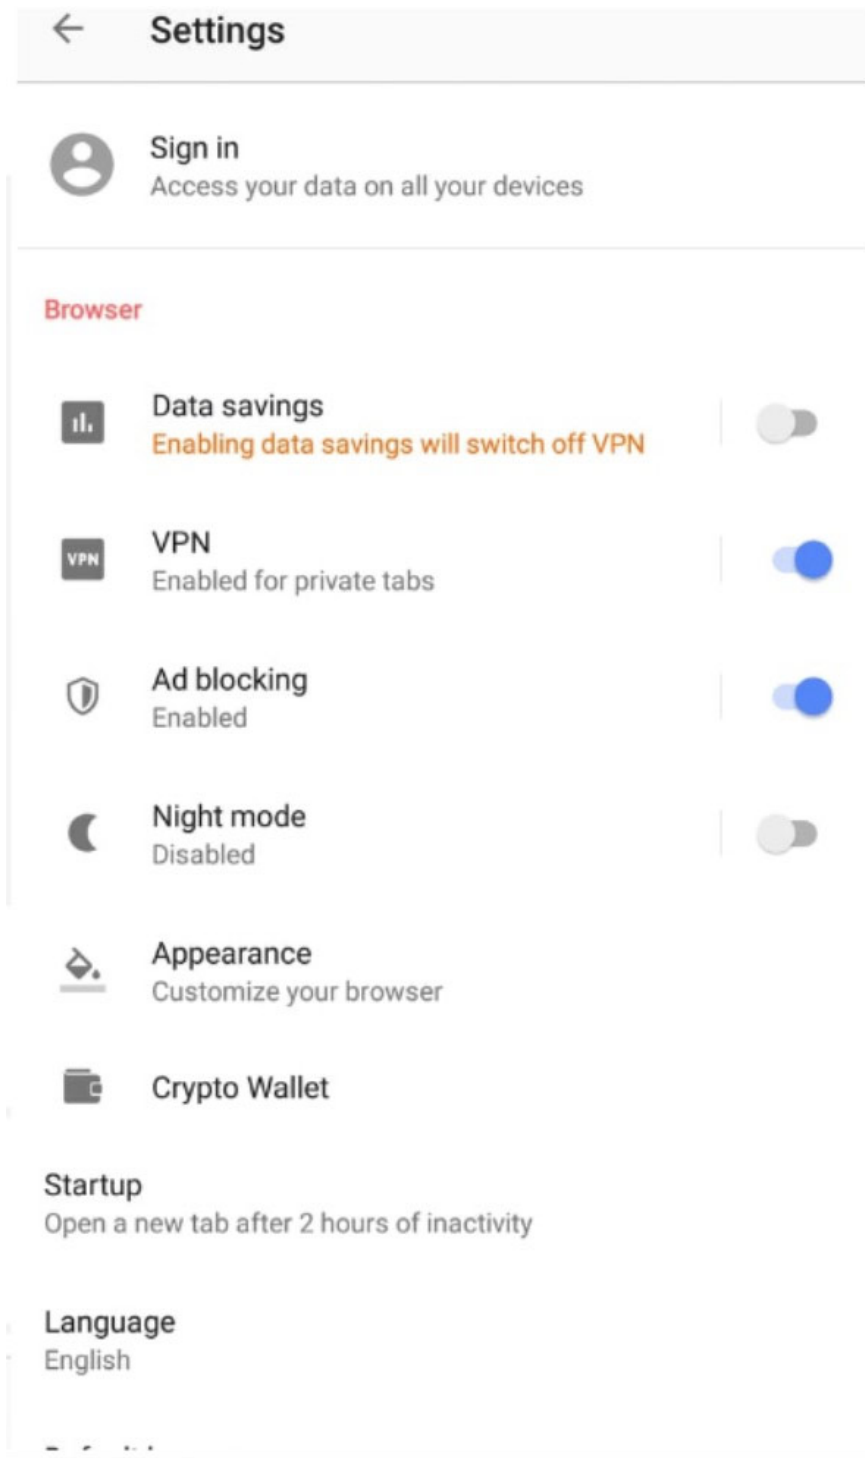

Bookmarks

Offline pages

Downloads

Settings

To access the on / off VPN section, access the Settings section by clicking on the Opera logo at the bottom right of the screen. Here, users can customize some things like bypass VPN on the search engine, only use VPN for anonymous tabs.

In addition, Opera has also warned that the speed of web surfing may be affected when enabling VPN.

You finished reading the article "Opera on Android has unlimited free VPN integration" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

