

OS X 10.9 operating system appears

Statistics of some websites show that many people using computers running OS X 10.9 to access their home page.

Statistics of some websites show that many people using computers running OS X 10.9 to access their home page.

OS X 10.9 is expected to be released after version 10.8 is one year.

Apple Insider said that in the past, there were a total of 30 visitors to this website with computers running OS X 10.9. In addition, another website, Letemsvetemapple, said that some people use a strange operating system called "Intel 10.9" to log into their website.

Many sources believe that the number of OS X 10.9 users to access such low websites is because Apple is only testing the next version of OS X. In addition, it is not excluded. The parameters given by websites can be fake.

Recently, Apple often releases new operating systems every year. The latest version is OS X 10.8 Mountain Lion on Mac App Store since July. Meanwhile, the older version of OS X 10.7 was released in July 2011 and OS X 10.6 and 10.5 respectively in August. / 2009 and 10/2007. Therefore, the latest OS X 10.9 version is expected to be officially released in the summer of 2013.

You finished reading the article "OS X 10.9 operating system appears" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

